

Download Addison Goolsbee V. Texas And New Orleans Railroad Company

This is a second hearing in an action brought by appellee, Addison Goolsbee, for the recovery of damages for personal injuries *251 alleged to have been caused by the negligence of the employees of appellant, Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company, in the operation of a train, which caused him to jump from the engine in which he was employed as a fireman, because of apprehension on his part of a ...Rehearing Denied March 9, 1950. MONTEITH, Chief Justice. This action was brought by appellee, Addison Goolsbee, for the recovery of damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by him as a result of the negligence of the employees of appellant, Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company. Addison Goolsbee filed this suit against the Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company for personal injuries sustained by him, due to the alleged negligence of the employees of the Texas & New Orleans Railroad Company. Based upon the answers of the jury to the special issues submitted, the trial court entered judgment for Goolsbee in the sum of $22,500. Upon the filing of a motion for new trial ...Co ~ Pdf Drive Addison Goolsbee V. Texas And New Orleans Railroad Company File Name: Addison Goolsbee V. Texas And New Orleans Railroad Company, Addison Goolsbee V. Texas And New Orleans Railroad Company.

Other Files :